Personal Info

Interests: Helping students find information in person, chat, email, or phone--just ask us because we want to help you! Our 10 Tips for New Students:

1) Start Early. In college things have a tendency to pile up and time is always short.
2) Ask Questions. It is the only way to find the answers.
3) Get to know a Librarian. Who better to help with your questions?
4) Experience everything you can. There is more to college than studying.
5) Save, Make Backups, and Print Often. Computers have an fascinating habit of eating things. This goes for yours as well as public computers.
6) Do Your Homework.
7) Talk to other students, especially those browsing shelves or studying in the same area as you are. You never know what kind of contact you could make or what kind of information you could gain.
8) Check out the local community libraries. They may offer that one special source and a quiet place to study off campus.
9) Practice using every machine in the library. Information comes in various formats besides electronic.
10 Get you ID (WildCard) registered with the Library. It is the best way to work from home.
